

education
analytics

The EA Approach to Human-Centered Design

The EA Approach to Human-Centered Design

A human-centered approach to product design keeps the mindset and preferences of real people at the forefront of every phase of the design process. Ultimately, this helps us ensure that products and services will be more intuitive, accessible, and effective for everyone involved.

